

Restek MXT® Capillary Columns

MXT® columns are wall coated open tubular (WCOT) columns made from stainless steel tubing that has had the internal surface treated with an exclusive Siltek® treatment. This treatment makes the surface as inert as deactivated fused silica, and it allows us to treat the tubing with a wide variety of polymer phases.

The unique Siltek® treatment also enables us to offer MXT® columns in a wide range of internal diameters, including 0.18 mm, 0.25 mm, 0.28 mm, 0.32 mm, and 0.53 mm. Because the Siltek® treatment permeates the stainless steel surface, rather than simply coating it, the layer is exceptionally flexible, so the tubing can be coiled to very small diameters. The standard coil diameter for most MXT® columns is 4.5", but they also are available in 3.5" and 6" coil diameters.

Listed below is our entire range of MXT® Capillary Columns. If you are unsure of which column is best for you, please fill out our form at www.thamesrestek.co.uk/which-column and we will get back to you with our recommendation.

If we say we'll do something ... we'll do it. We don't make false claims and will never sell you something, knowing it won't work. If we should make a mistake we will admit it. You're far more important to us than a single sale. You can be certain that you will always be treated fairly.
